

Bach to Broadway

The Thursday Music Club and Secrest Auditorium & Music Hall join together to present Bach to Broadway Saturday May 6, 7:30 pm. Secrest doors open at 7:00 pm. This concert will showcase the music talents of youth and adults of the Zanesville/Muskingum County Community. This year the Thursday Music Club celebrates 113 years of offering free public concerts. Everett Jackson, Thursday Music Club president and Rick Sabine, Secrest Auditorium manager are pleased to be able to offer this concert free and open to the public. Franklin Printing is also a sponsor for the concert. The Master of Ceremonies for the concert is Nicole Hannah from the WHIZ Media Group.

Nearly 80 local musicians will perform during the concert. Featured performers are Bill Barrett, Nate Terry, and the Civic Chorus Chamber Singers. Summer Music Camp Scholarship winners performing are pianist, Truett Howell, and vocalist, Josiah Gross. Several youth from the Junior Music Club will also perform.

Bill Barrett currently resides in Redondo Beach, California. He was born in Zanesville and was valedictorian at Philo High School. He started playing organ at church at age 13. He received scholarships to study music at Oberlin College Conservatory of Music. He received a Master of Divinity degree from Union Theological Seminary. He presently works for Barnes & Noble as a front-end web developer for their e-commerce website. He also is a piano teacher.

Nate Terry currently resides in Columbus, Ohio. He was born in Zanesville and was graduated from John Glenn High School. He started playing church services at Central Trinity United Methodist Church as a youth and accompanying the John Glenn high school choirs as well as playing piano for their dramatic presentations. He is a music major graduate from Capital University. He is director of music ministry at Gethsemane Lutheran Church in Columbus. He is owner of Major 7 music publishing company which provides music for piano, organ, voice and choral music. He often writes commissioned music compositions. He is accompanist and vocal coach at Capital University and accompanist for Capriccio.

The Chamber Singers is a smaller version of the Zanesville Civic Chorus. The Civic Chorus is known for their 93 year tradition of performing Handel's "Messiah" Oratorio each December in Zanesville, one of the oldest choral music traditions in Ohio. The Civic Chorus performed "Messiah" in Carnegie Hall, NYC in 2019. Under the direction of Ann Lillie Briggs, the chamber singers offer unique spring choral concerts each year sponsored by the Thursday Music Club. One of their numbers on the Bach to Broadway Concert was especially arranged by Nate Terry.
